

Get-Started Recommendations - Mill and Lathe Tooling, Measurement and Workholding

This is a subset of my tool inventory for milling, lathe work, and general machining.
This is my personal viewpoint - others may differ as to need and specific tool/brand.
Hotlinks Are Provided Below	Green shade I consider "Must Have" items.
	Red Shade is for more advanced operations, and higher skill levels.
	Yellow Shade is for advanced or specialty work.
The specific items listed are for R-8 Spindle Mills, and MT3 Tailstock Lathes. Tailstock taper varies by lathe.
The specific items listed are generally higher quality, investment-grade components. Less expensive and lower quality equivalents are available.
A few components are listed that can be shared between mill and lathe (collets and drill chucks).
A lot of the choices listed are Vertex brand. I have found Vertex (Taiwanese company) great value.
The source linked to is one example (among many) for the specific item. Source the tool locally or online where most economical including shipping. Beware of counterfeits.
Rotagrip is listed as a good source for several items. They are in the UK but have great pricing and ship to the USA quickly and low cost.
Lathe-specific tooling and accessories such as QCTP, Cutting/Threading Tools, Chucks, Collet Systems, DRO's are not listed here. DM me for specific suggestions.
Mill-specific accessories such as DRO's, Power Drawbars, Power Feeders, Cutting Tools are not listed here. DM me for specific suggestions.
